

HOW TO MAKE YOUR OWN TOP 10 LIST

Each spouse should print out their own Top 10 List (see following). Using their own preferences, jot down at least two (more is fine) ideas per category. Then share your list with your spouse. Ideally, have your spouse take a picture of your list on their phone so they have it handy when the next date night opportunity arises!

Just a few non-traditional ideas to get you started...

- Kayaking/boating/surfing/fishing/tubing
- Find the "best of" in your town (pizza, tacos, burgers, etc.)
- Serve together at a local charity
- Cooking class
- Progressive dinner
- Escape Room
- Dance lessons
- Karaoke
- Comedy club/improv theater
- Concert
- Learn a new skill (Home Depot, martial arts, musical instrument, etc.)
- Farmer's market
- Bookstore
- Amusement park
- Sporting event (pro, college, other)
- Walking/hiking/running/cycling
- Museum or art gallery
- Play a sport (tennis, (mini) golf, bowling, rock climbing)
- Spa appointments
- $10 Goodwill outfits
- Dinner cruise
- Winery/brewery tour
- Arcade games
- Dessert first dinner
- Beach/park picnic
- Shooting range
- Bonfire & s'mores
- Drive in theater
- Catch a meteor shower

At-Home Date Nights

At-home date nights aren't ideal for most couples, but there are seasons when they can be vital. Here's some tips on how to make them shine.

COOK

Take turns cooking a meal that the two of you can enjoy in a special way: candlelight, fireplace, picnic on the floor, or in the backyard.

ORDER IN

Spare the dishes and the time and order from your favorite local eateries. Here are some codes for discounts off your first deliveries:
